Almost every gripe I had in my review of the first Nickelodeon Kart RacersNickelodeon Kart Racers 2 Grand Prix This is how to make a sequel. Almost every gripe I had in my review of the first Nickelodeon Kart Racers 2 Grand Prix is as you guess a map racer with nickelodeon characters, and this time can feel time, effort and care went into creating the sequel.. as here there are more than twice as many characters in the first, in fact there are 30 characters to unlock vs the original 12, and that’s right, you heard right.. Unlock.. you need to unlock them. a big blow to the first, the first game had no replayability, but here theres so much to unlock and do in map racers 2 that this actually has the potential to be a racing staple in your collection, there are grand prix to race and win, all with tracks that feel varied and alive.. a great improvisation over the original game, but only a little more care has to go into them as I did not find anything particularly fun to race on.. but fortunately overhauling the mechanics makes racing fun enough on its own. Collect slim tokens to go faster, collect slime to unlock an ability to help you in the race, I love the collectin aspect, making map cyclists 2 feel more strategic instead of just relying on the mystery box.. you will also unlock different crew members who help you in different ways and I wish it stayed on it ... a great gripe I have in the map the cyclists are when the cyclists have no personality and that is unfortunately the case here ... for parents’ sake, there are no voice acting or mockery that you play that really make racing feel flat and while there are individual character statistics, you can throw on various performance elements to really make it dont matter who you play as ... same with the supporting characters you unlock, I feel that they should be attached to the characters in their show to make this game and its characters feel that it has a small personality ... This is my biggest gripe overall with map cyclists 2, from their signs to their tracks that should be seen as signs themselves.. everything flat and lifeless in terms of its potential, but compared to the original game, this is still a massive jump ahead. Other improvements come through faster racing modes, online and local multiplayer with up to 4 players and an achallenge mode where you can complete a variety of challenges to unlock multiple protagonists and support characters.. While Nickelodeon Kart Racers as a series needs more Polish, I was impressed by the improvements here. making nickelodeon Kart Racers 2 an actually pretty solid map racing game I give Nickelodeon Kart Racers 2 Grand Prix a 7/10...
